

ENDOSTATIN™

A New Assay For Angiogenesis Research

Just Released:
Mouse
Endostatin
Cat. # AC-215M

Measure the Balance

Characterization of angiogenic activity is measured by comparing the ratio of angiogenic stimulators (e.g. VEGF or bFGF) to angiogenic inhibitors (e.g. Endostatin™). Applications include: cancer, cardiovascular disease, rheumatoid arthritis, transplant technology and acute phase responses.

ACCUCYTE™:
The Accepted Standard for Measuring Angiogenic Signaling

Endogenous levels of angiogenic stimulators and inhibitors

Four Essential Journals from the AACR

Priority reading for almost 60 years
– cited more than any other
journal in its field

CANCER RESEARCH

Vol. 59, 1999 (24 issues)
ISSN 0008-5472

Editor-in-Chief:
Carlo M. Croce, M.D.

- State-of-the-art laboratory and clinical investigations
- Advances in Brief
- Selected review articles
- Perspectives in Cancer Research

Individual nonmembers: $530;
Outside U.S.: $620
Institutions: $895; Outside U.S.: $1,025

Institutional subscriptions include a subscription to Clinical Cancer Research. Available only as a combined subscription. Proceedings of the AACR is included in Individual nonmember and Institutional subscriptions to Cancer Research.

A major resource on the molecular biology of cancer

CELL GROWTH & DIFFERENTIATION

Vol. 10, 1999 (12 issues)
ISSN 1044-9523

Editor-in-Chief:
Joseph R. Nevins, Ph.D.

- Significant, original research on the molecular biology of cell growth and differentiation, particularly as it relates to oncogenesis
- Selected review articles
- Meeting reports

Individual nonmembers: $130;
Outside U.S.: $170
Institutions: $360; Outside U.S.: $400

A unique journal
spanning three vital fields

CANCER EPIDEMIOLOGY, BIOMARKERS & PREVENTION

Vol. 8, 1999 (12 issues)
ISSN 1055-9965

Editor-in-Chief:
Frederick P. Li, M.D.

- Original research on the epidemiology and prevention of cancer in humans
- Invited editorials
- Selected review articles
- Short communications
- Meeting reports

Individual nonmembers: $130;
Outside U.S.: $170
Institutions: $320; Outside U.S.: $360

An exciting forum for clinical and translational cancer research

CLINICAL CANCER RESEARCH

Vol. 5, 1999 (12 issues)
ISSN 1078-0432

Editor-in-Chief:
John Mendelsohn, M.D.

- Cutting-edge clinical research, clinical trials, and translational research that has implications for patient care
- Advances in Brief
- Minireviews

Individual nonmembers: $140;
Outside U.S.: $180
Institutions: $895; Outside U.S.: $1,025

Institutional subscriptions include a subscription to Cancer Research. Available only as a combined subscription.
